PLAN CHANGES 'ARE COSMETIC'

THE three millionth MINI rolled off the production line at Cowley on Tuesday 13 years after the car was re-launched Sporting the UK'S Union Jack, a MINI five-door was the focal point of a special ceremony at the plant, based off the Eastern Bypass.

Plant Oxford director Frank Buchmann was joined by BMW board members Harald Kruger and Peter Schwarzenbauer as well as Baroness Susan Kramer, Minister of State for Transport.

Baroness Kramer said: "I congratulate the workers at MINI Plant Oxford on reaching this remarkable milestone.

"The MINI is a British icon and is a major part of a thriving automotive industry spearheading the growing British economy".

Since its relaunch in 2001, two million MINIs have been exported from the UK to more than 110 countries.

Around 4,000 people are employed at MINI Plant Oxford where 1,000 cars are made every day

REVISED plans for the £100million redevelopment of Botley's West Way shopping centre are "cosmetic" changes according to campaigners.

Developers Doric Properties want to knock down West Way shopping centre, Elms Parade shops, Field House sheltered housing and the empty Elms Court office block.

A supermarket, cinema, hotel, gym, shops, 50 flats and 525 student rooms would be built in their place.

Doric submitted amendments to its plans to Vale of White Horse District Council on Monday.

But campaign group West Way Community Concern say they do not meet the needs and concerns of residents.

Amendments include reducing the height of the cinema by one metre and the hotel by one storey.

Chris Church, co-chair of the group said: "We see them as nothing more than cosmetic changes.

"They have been cobbled together to try and deal with some of the criticism they have had.

"They don't meet local needs and they don't reflect local concerns about the scale and congestion, the loss of Elms Parade and Field House."

Doric amended its plans after a meeting with the South East Regional Panel, an independent body which reviews the design quality of new developments commissioned by the Vale council to scrutinise Doric's plans.

Other changes include reducing the supermarket size from 8,314sqm to 8,181sqm and adding trees to act as a buffer.

Mr Church added: "Planting a few more trees is what developers always do when they face criticism.

"It is not going to hide the buildings.

"They are trying to make it look a little nicer but the scale and size is still exactly the same.

"The bottom line is not are these any better because they could not be any worse, but do they meet the needs of local people and the answer is no."

There will now be a three-week consultation period until September 29 and a target decision date has been set for October 31.

Simon Hillcox, partner of Doric Properties said: "We have recently submitted new design improvements for the £100m regeneration scheme for Botley District Centre to the Vale of White Horse District Council.

"We've worked hard all summer to take into account feedback from the South East Regional Design Panel, the council, our stakeholders and the local community and look forward to making a full announcement on our design changes very soon."

Crowds congratulate future king on baby

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

PRINCE William opened a new £21million building at Oxford University on Monday just hours after the announcement he is to become a dad for the second time.

The Duke of Cambridge, dressed in a blue suit and tie, arrived in a black Range Rover to greet crowds with a wave and smile.

His wife Kate Middleton the Duchess of Cambridge was expected to be at his side but had to cancel at the last minute because she was suffering from morning sickness.

As he opened the building Prince William said of Kate: "She is feeling okay. It has been a tricky few days – a week or so – but basically we are thrilled. It's great news.

"We are hoping things settle down and she feels better."

Dozens gathered in St Margaret's Road to meet the future king as he made his way to St Hugh's College to open The Dickson Poon University of Oxford China Centre Building.

Members of the public shouted congratulations as William walked through the gates where he was met by Tim Stevenson OBE, Her Majesty's Lord Lieutenant of Oxfordshire.

Muttaah Djan, a business student at St Hugh's, saw William as he walked into the college and said: "He shook a few hands, he was nice and was regal."

Larry and Kathy Baddour from Minnesota, United States, said seeing William was the "most exciting part" of their holiday.

They added: "It was wonderful. We planned the Oxfordshire part of our trip to be here around this time.

"It was such an adrenaline high to see him. It was such a treat."

Jeanette Oloo from Kenya, who is in Oxford visiting her daughter Yvonne, said she was "very excited".

"I have never seen him at close quarters, only on TV," she added.

"It was very special, we were very happy to see him."

The new centre is designed for academics whose research and teaching interests are related to China.

It has a library, reading room, 63 student bedrooms, a 100-seat lecture theatre, a dining area and conference and seminar facilities.

The centre is named after Hong Kong philanthropist Dickson Poon who donated £16m towards the cost of the building.

He met Prince William to open the centre in a traditional Chinese ribbon cutting ceremony.

Kate cancels visit due to morning sickness

KATE Middleton was forced to drop out of her trip to Oxford on Monday because she is suffering from morning sickness – pregnant with her second child.

News of her pregnancy was welcomed across the world on Monday.

She was expected to accompany Prince William to open The Dickson Poon University of Oxford China Centre Building at St Hugh's College.

But Kate cancelled that morning as she is suffering with acute morning sickness, which she also suffered from while pregnant with Prince George.

Clarence House confirmed Kate's pregnancy on Monday morning and said she was being "treated by doctors at Kensington Palace."

The Queen and members of both families are delighted with the news that Their Royal Highnesses are expecting their second child," it added.

Prime Minister and Witney MP David Cameron tweeted: "Many congratulations to the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge.

"I'm delighted by the happy news that they're expecting another baby."

Jack Fuller, 23, student, Oxford.
"I was looking forward to seeing her but to hear she is pregnant is amazing news."

Carrin Rampton, 75, retired, Oxford.
"I was a little bit disappointed she wasn't in Oxford but I am pleased that she is pregnant and I wish her well."

Joanna Jakubic and Anna Szkaradek, both 21 and students from Oxford.
"We were quite disappointed that Kate wasn't here but we wish her well. We hope for a girl!"

Edward Anyaeji, 39, lecturer, London.

PM praise for charity hotel soap project

AN OXFORD student who has recycled half a tonne of old soap from the city's hotels into new bars to give to charity has been recognised by the Prime Minister.

Sebastian Huempter from Woodstock Road set up his enterprise Clean SI8 turning used soap into new bars for local charities homeless shelters and disaster relief agencies.

The idea for the project came after he saw a similar scheme while travelling in Hong Kong.

It makes Clean SI8 the only large scale soap recycling business in Europe.

Sebastian received the Point of Light award from David Cameron on Tuesday for his volunteering efforts becoming the first person from Oxfordshire ever to get one.

"I am pleased to have won a Point of Light award for my work with Clean SI8," said Sebastian.

"The volunteers I work with come from all over the UK, Europe and beyond to study at Oxford University.

"We are all glad to be able to contribute towards the city's civic life and to be recognised by the Prime Minister for the work that we do."

Sebastian is the 105th recipient of the Point of Light award in the UK, which recognises volunteering and was first established by former American President George H W Bush.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

David Cameron said: "Sebastian's idea is simple but brilliant and is making a real difference to charities and his local community.

"I'm impressed that having already produced 500 new bars of soap, Sebastian now plans to expand Clean SI8 further.

"He thoroughly deserves this Point of Light award."

Clean SI8 also works with the Ley Community, an organisation that helps ex-offenders and homeless people by getting them a job.

Those involved help Clean SI8 by collecting the soap before recycling it.

Nicola Blackwood, MP for Oxford West and Abingdon, added: "Oxford is a great launchpad for social enterprises and Sebastian is an inspiring winner.

"He has built an enterprise that not only helps the hotel industry tackle widespread environmental waste, but also offers ex-offenders and addicts from the Ley Community vital work opportunities.

"As a patron of Ley Community I am personally grateful to Sebastian for playing his part in giving residents a second chance."

Sebastian Huempfer has been given a Point of Light Award for his soap recycling efforts

Poor turnout

OXFORD: Less than 18 per cent of the electorate turned out for last Thursday's Carfax Ward by-election on Oxford City Council.

Only 2,8 per cent voted as Labour candidate Alex Hollingsworth won the election with 164 votes.

Liberal Democrat candidate Tony Brett was second with 101 votes, followed by Richard Scrase (Green), Keorick Bird (UKIP) and Maryam Ahmed (Conservative).

At knifepoint

OXFORD: A 30 year old man who was robbed of his rucksack managed to chase the offender and get it back in an incident on Cowley Road last Friday.

At around 3.50am the victim approached the junction with Leopold Street where he was threatened with a knife and pushed by the robber.

After taking the rucksack, the robber ran off but the victim gave chase before the bag was dropped and he was able to take it back.

Garden is 10

OXFORD: Howard Street Community Garden marked its 10th anniversary with a fun day on Saturday evening.

Community leaders and residents cut a cake in commemoration at the garden on the corner of Catherine Street with a number of activities including storytelling and face painting taking place during the day.

Oxford city councillor for Iffley Fields Elise Benjamin said: "The sceptics have been proven wrong and the garden has remained a much loved community space."

School 'rat run' safer with new crossing

A ZEBRA crossing is set to be installed outside an Oxford primary school amid concerns over the safety of its pupils.

Oxfordshire County Council's cabinet member for the environment, David Nimmo Smith, approved the crossing outside Windmill School in Headington in a meeting at County Hall in New Road last Thursday.

The Margaret Road school will become the biggest in Oxfordshire next year after undergoing an expansion.

Lynn Knapp, the school's headteacher, said there have been "a couple of near misses" and pupils have been within centimetres of being hit.

Headington and Quarry county councillor Roz Smith spoke on behalf of the school at last week's meeting.

"There is an awful lot of movement by foot, cycle, scooter and unfortunately quite a bit by car," she said.

"A lot of it is rat running from the Eastern by-pass."

The plans also include the narrowing of Wharton Road junction.

The project will be financed as part of the proposed expansion of the school.

Approving the crossing, Cllr Nimmo Smith said: "It is a growing school and we need something in this area."

Crowds flock to city for annual street fair

THOUSANDS turned out for the annual St Giles Fair earlier this week as fun fair rides dominated the streets of Oxford on Monday and Tuesday.

Ferris wheels, bumper cars, waltzers, a house of mirrors and much more took over St Giles for the two day event.

The fair has historic relevance to Oxford with the first dating back to 1625 when it was a parish festival celebrating the feast of the patron saint, St Giles.

By Andy Allens
news@oxfordmessengers.co.uk

In the 16th century it became a toy fair and in the early 19th century was a general children's fair, growing in popularity during the mid to late Victorian times.

The fair always takes place on the Monday and Tuesday following the first Sunday after St Giles' Day, September 1.

Body discovered inside van at Cowley's Burger King car park

THE death of a man whose body was found in a van parked at a Burger King in Cowley last Thursday is being treated as unexplained by police.

A member of the public raised the alarm after spotting fluid leaking out the silver Mercedes van in Oxford Retail Park at 12.25pm.

Police broke into the van and found the man believed to be in his 40s already dead.

Thames Valley Police Chief Inspector Yvette Hitch said: "Police broke in and sadly found the body of a male who was deceased.

"We are treating it as an unexplained death – there is no indication of violence.

"We have not yet identified the man that is our priority to inform his next of kin.

"We are still examining the body and gathering evidence so we can work out what has gone on here."

Burger King staff told police officers the van has been parked outside the fast food chain for about a week.

Police believe the liquid coming from the van is likely to have been bodily fluid of some sort.

A blue tent has been put up around the van for police to carry out their work.

About 10 officers, pathologists, and detectives were at the scene.

The Burger King car was cordoned off throughout the afternoon.

Woman tells of support after devastating blaze

A RADLEY woman whose thatched home was destroyed by fire three years ago was the guest of honour at an event marking 15 years of Oxfordshire Fire and Emergency Support (FES) last Friday

Caroline Steinsberg, her husband Graham and children Sophia Victoria and Henry were forced to run for their lives when their cottage in Lower Radley near Abingdon, burnt down in March 2011

Volunteers from Oxfordshire FES which is run by the British Red Cross helped the Steinsberg family immediately after the fire by providing them with clean clothes food and drink

"It was terrifying but at the same time it was so surreal," said Caroline "I was just so relieved we all got out safely

"We shall never forget the comfort at being taken to the Red Cross vehicle for tea and reassurance, having stood out in the cold watching our house burn down.

"The comfort bags we were given were so useful until we were able to go shopping again I have never been so grateful for anything"

"The children really appreciated their soft toys and my son still has the lion he was given on that night"

Oxfordshire FES was set up in 1999 and works across the UK to help people in the aftermath of a fire or other emergency

Last Friday's event was held at the Red Cross House in Colwell Drive Abingdon to celebrate the volunteers and the work they do

Nathan Travis, deputy chief fire officer for Oxfordshire, said "The effect on homeowners and their families of house fires or other incidents that severely damage properties can be absolutely devastating

"Oxfordshire FES is an excellent and invaluable support network for those unfortunate enough to encounter such an experience

"I am delighted that our joint-working has reached the 15 year mark and would like to thank everybody who has been involved in this important work"

Scientists study pregnancy growth

OXFORD University scientists have developed research that can measure the growth of babies both during and out of pregnancy

The team, called the Intergrowth-21st Project of 300 clinicians from 27 institutions including Oxford, have produced the international standards for the growing foetus and for newborns

Both of the papers were published in the medical journal The Lancet last Friday September 5

The standards can depict a desirable patterns of healthy babies during pregnancy by using ultrasound, and after-by measuring weight length and head circumference

Senior author Professor Jose Villar of Oxford University said, "Being able to identify millions of additional undernourished babies at birth provides an opportunity for them to receive nutritional support and targeted treatment.

The huge improvement in health care we can achieve is unprecedented"

The project involved 60,000 pregnant women in the UK Brazil China India Italy Kenya Oman and USA

Measurements of weight length and head circumference for more than 20 000 babies were used to generate the standards

New stores to provide 150 jobs in the county

Swimmers take to Blenheim's open water

OLYMPIC medallists Keri-Anne Payne and Duncan Goodhew joined more than 800 swimmers for a national swimming event at Blenheim Palace last Sunday.

The British Gas SwimBritain event is held at 11 locations across the country with Blenheim hosting the open water event.

On Sunday participants competed as teams of four to complete relays of 500m and 1,000m and raced alongside Keri-Anne and Duncan.

Keri-Anne also went head-to-head with her husband and three-time Olympian David Carry beating him by 12 seconds.

The 26 year-old Olympic silver medallist and double world champion said: "British Gas SwimBritain is a great event as it encourages more people to swim which is something I'm very passionate about.

"I hope SwimBritain will inspire some future champions."

Duncan, an Olympic gold medallist, added: "It was great to be a part of SwimBritain for a second year.

"The fantastic achievements of British swimmers have seen the popularity of swimming rise and I'm excited to be a part of this."

UP TO 150 jobs will be created when two homeware stores open in Abingdon and Didcot this month.

Discount retailer B&M is opening a new store at Fairacres Retail Park in Abingdon next Thursday in the place of the former Homestore & More shop.

This will then be followed by the Didcot store's launch two days later in the former Focus store at Wallingford Road Retail Park.

Both stores will open at 9am.

Finishing touches are currently being made to both sites, with the company saying that around 150 people will be employed across the two stores.

Darryl Neville, B&M's area manager for Oxfordshire said: "We're really proud to be opening not one but two new stores across Oxfordshire.

"These are creating up to 150 new jobs and playing our part in the local community.

"We are excited to get the doors open this month and have two teams of colleagues who are willing to provide great value products and world class service to our customers."

By Adam Flinn
adam.flinn@newspapers.co.uk

B&M currently has two branches open in Oxfordshire – one in Templars Square Shopping Centre in Cowley and another in Wantage.

Abingdon's B&M will be a home store while Didcot will have a home store with garden centre compared to the Wantage and Cowley bargains stores.

Emma East of Didcot First said: "It's a good thing really because the Focus site has been empty for quite some time so it's nice to have a new business come into town.

"I would imagine it would attract people from the Wallingford area as well as they haven't got a store there."

Sandy Lovatt, leader of Abingdon Town Council said: "They're a growing name and Fairacres will be quite pleased they've got a tenant. I'm happy to see Fairacres looking prosperous because if that was derelict it would be bad news."

He added he didn't think the store would draw shoppers away from Abingdon town centre.

The B4526 Playhatch Road was left with a cracked surface after the floods at the beginning of the year and has been reduced to one lane for safety reasons ever since.

It is hoped that repairs will be completed by mid-November.

Over 100 people attended the first Big Splash at the pool, which raised £500 for the group.

Oxford City Council is looking to close the pool and Save Temple Cowley Pools are working on their own bid to take it over to keep it open.

Sunday's event runs from 3pm to 5pm.

Oxfordshire County Council's library service is offering the chance for visitors to download free eBooks and audio downloads during the day.

"It comes as National eBooks Day is celebrated across the UK next Thursday.

Assault arrest

OXFORD Police have arrested a 37-year-old man after another man was punched outside the Vodafone Shop in Cornmarket in the early hours of Saturday morning.

The victim was reportedly knocked unconscious in the seemingly unprovoked attack, which took place at around 1.15am.

Anyone with information is asked to contact PC Mark Miller on 101.

Alternatively they can contact national charity Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

AN OXFORDSHIRE free school celebrated the start of the new academic year and the unveiling of its West Wing with a tie-giving ceremony last Wednesday.

Year 7 pupils arriving at Heyford Park Free School near Bicester for their first day were awarded the status signify the house they will represent at the ceremony and assembly.

The school opened last year on the site of the former RAF base at Upper Heyford, initially teaching out of portakabins.

And the assembly also marked the opening of the West Wing of the former Officers' mess – the building that will become the school's permanent home when refurbishment is completed in 2015.

Heyford Park's headteacher David Castles said: "This marks an important milestone in the history of the school.

"Opening new learning facilities and welcoming an extra 90 pupils across the primary and secondary phases of the school shows the immense progress we've made in the last 12 months.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"We want to be a school that is known for delivering a personalised education for all our students.

"With the help of our parents and partners, we hope to establish ourselves as the school of choice in our area of Oxfordshire."

The West Wing's refurbishment took five months to complete, and now houses five primary school classrooms and bathroom facilities on the ground floor.

Two of the classrooms will be used temporarily by the secondary school while other work is completed.

The school is for children aged four to 19, and teaches the core subjects such as Maths and English as well as providing a specialism in history to reflect the site's heritage.

A campus for subjects including art, design and music will be opened at the site's former sports centre at Christmas.

It is hoped that 840 pupils will be at the school by 2019.

Pavilion gets official opening following its refurbishment

BLACKBIRD Leys' new pavilion was officially opened on Saturday, with work on the new facility having begun back in February.

The new pavilion, which is owned by Oxford City Council, will be home to the Blackbirds and Greater Leys football clubs.

Changing rooms, officials' rooms, toilets and a tuck shop make up the building.

Mark Lygo, the council's board member for sports, events and parks, said: "This brand new pavilion will provide local teams with a high standard of facilities.

"We hope that it will increase the number of players in their various teams and see them improve in their respective leagues."

Around £430,000 was spent on the new pavilion.

Nick Courtney-Cramp, chair of Greater Leys FC, said: "The new pavilion is a huge step forwards and puts us on a par with the rest of the county's football clubs.

"It has also helped to break down barriers between the two clubs and now we're helping each other for one great cause that is children's and youth football."

It comes as the council is building a new swimming complex at Blackbird Leys Leisure Centre in Pegasus Road, next to the pavilion.

Back with all the classics

ICONIC rock and roll band Showaddywaddy who released 23 chart hits in the 1970s and 1980s, come to the Oxford New Theatre on Saturday

By Adam Flinn
adam@oxfordmail.co.uk

They became well known for their covers of music from the 1950s and 1960s.

Their rendition of 'Under the Moon of Love' became their only number one hit in 1976.

And their new show will feature all of the songs they are renowned for, including 'Three Steps to Heaven', 'Heartbeat' and 'I Wonder Why'.

"It's all the big hits you expect from Showaddywaddy," said the band's drummer Romeo Challenger.

"Looking at our website, we realised which ones people wanted to listen to, so the first half is some favourite songs and the second half is where we play the big nostalgic hits."

Last year Showaddywaddy celebrated their 40th anniversary with a nationwide tour which Romeo thought went really well.

"It was fantastic, just like it used to be," he said.

"All those arena gigs were incredible, notably at the O2 (in London) which was one of the gigs I've always wanted to do."

Romeo and bass player Rod Deas are the only two members of the original line-up still playing in the band, and have since been joined by guitarist Paul Dixon, keyboard player Dean Leach, drummer and guitarist Rob Hewins, and singer Andy Pelos.

Despite the changes, Romeo believes that the style of Showaddywaddy has remained the same, with the new band members fitting in well.

He added: "We've not changed the style at all, that's the great thing about it.

"You've got to remember the reason why people are coming to these gigs is because of what we've done, not what we're going to do.

"We're thinking of putting out some new stuff at some stage, but we've got to let the band settle in as a touring concern before we think of that. But it's on the agenda."

Saturday's show starts at 7.30pm. For more information or to book tickets, call the box office on 0844 871 3020 or go to newtheatreoxford.org.uk.

• Renowned rock band Showaddywaddy are at the New Theatre in Oxford on Saturday

Dinosaur story

A PREHISTORIC tale for children of music and dinosaurs comes to the Burton Taylor Studio in Oxford from tomorrow.

What to do When You Find a Dinosaur tells of eccentric Oxford scientist William Buckland, who discovered a bone from a creature that no one had ever seen before.

It is running at the Beaumont Street venue until September 21.

Rollin' Clones

AN EVENING of classic Rolling Stones hits arrives at the Chipping Norton Theatre tomorrow, performed by tribute act The Rollin' Clones.

The group emulate a classic Stones concert from 7.45pm, with the aim of performing as accurate a show in terms of gesture, dancing and voice as possible.

Doors tribute

BRITISH tribute band The Doors Alive perform the iconic music of The Doors at Oxford's O2 Academy on Saturday.

Frontman Willie Scott, drummer Buzz Allen, keyboard player Norbert Varga and guitarist Baz Meyer recreate the sound and atmosphere of a live Doors gig.

Doors open at 6.30pm. Go to o2academyoxford.co.uk.

Examplar Park proves popular

After 41 years living in the family home where they raised their children Buckinghamshire couple Colin and Jackie Pettit were looking for a new property where they could be happy

They found what they were looking for at award-winning Linden Homes' Exemplar Park collection in Aylesbury – which is just down the road from where their daughter Leanne lives in another part of the wider Berryfields development

Berryfields – of which Exemplar Park is one of the most popular neighbourhoods – boasts employment opportunities a food store and 10 other smaller shops

The Pettits old house in Holmer Green near High Wycombe was a two bedroom property built in 1957 Since arriving at Exemplar Park in May however they have been enjoying their brand new three/four-bedroom end-of-terrace townhouse with the benefits of Linden Homes customary high quality low maintenance and high energy efficiency

Prices at the development range from £199,950 for The Wroxeter two bedroom coach house to £283,950 for a three bedroom semi-detached in The Northumberland style

Sell before Christmas

With the best of the summer behind us thoughts will soon start to turn to the darker colder nights and the countdown to Christmas

For those considering a house sale it is widely accepted that September is the latest that a property can be placed on the market to have a realistic chance of a completion before the festive season

There is also a belief that there has been a shift in the market and properties aren't flying out of the door as quickly or for the values that were witnessed at the start of the year Therefore for those planning to sell they might well ask what they can do to unlock the true potential of their home

Across Oxfordshire the market is still looking positive with over 1,200 prospective applicants currently on our books So if you're serious about achieving a sale in the coming months we'd urge you to seek a valuation and the Andrews team across Oxfordshire would be delighted to support you in this You could also use our handy tool – andrewsonline.co.uk/how-much-is-my-home-worth/sale/ valuation – to find out how much value could be unlocked in your home

Bridge Over Troubled Lager

By Adam Flinn
adam@oxfordmail.co.uk

COMEDY music duo Rory McGrath and Philip Pope bring an evening of entertaining songs to Didcot's Cornerstone theatre tomorrow night.

Bridge Over Troubled Lager sees the pair performing songs about social media, the French and even the upcoming Scottish referendum.

Philip in particular has been writing and performing music for TV shows throughout his career including Spitting Image, Outnumbered and Jonathan Creek.

Speaking about tomorrow's show Philip said: "It's Rory and I singing comedy songs on all sorts of different subjects.

"It's not really anything to do with Simon and Garfunkel despite the silly title, but apart from that we look very similar to Simon and Garfunkel. Rory's got curly hair and I'm short."

"We've both got a history of doing music on television so we thought we'd get out, do it ourselves and sing.

"Even if I say it myself, we're not bad!"

Rory is well known as a regular panellist on 'They Think It's All Over' and one third of 'Three Men in a Boat' alongside Dara O Briain and Griff Rhys Jones.

He and Philip took the new show to the Edinburgh Festival over the summer where it proved popular.

"It went very well, including surprisingly a song about Scottish independence, even though I was quite scared about doing that," said Rory.

"What I think is the strength of our show is that every song is different in terms of why it's funny – some are parodies, some are silly, some are satirical and some are rude.

"The underlying thing is that Phil's a very good musician and I'm not, so there's a lot of bickering about how things should be.

"Essentially it's a collection of songs that we hope are funny and hope contrast in style, tone and comedy content."

Bridge Over Troubled Lager comes to the Cornerstone tomorrow from 8pm. For more details or to book, go to cornerstone-arts.org or phone 01235 515144.

THE LAMB Crawley

"Eating Out Should Be Fun, Exciting, Engaging And Delicious... Ensuring This Happens Is What I Strive For Everyday"

This is our ethos here at The Lamb Inn, Crawley, we want our guests to feel excited by our food. We want to challenge the preconceptions of "pub grub" and "fine dining", why can't they be assimilated? Pub food shouldn't be pre packaged and reheated, yet fine dining shouldn't be elitist or over bearing, both myself and my 'long suffering' sous chef, David Konye, feel passionate about this and is quite simply the reason we built the Lamb. We aim to serve contemporary, fun and sometimes challenging dishes that capture the essence of Britain, its incredible produce, seasons and people. We want our guests to come to us and enjoy themselves, try something new, challenge themselves but above all have a good time in doing this.

Some of our newest dishes see us trying to encapsulate this ethos and represent it on a plate; 'duck liver parfait, duck hearts, coffee, passion fruit, walnut and dandelion' is a prime example of this. It perhaps best personifies our style and goal in that it takes something quintessentially pub (the duck pate) and marries it with an element of fine dining

Kia's serious contender

THIS third-generation Kia Sportage is the Korean firm's key contender in the highly competitive compact SUV/crossover market.

Penned by German automotive designer Peter Schreyer the Sportage's tall dimensions give it a premium SUV presence enhanced by a bigger nose and sharp wrap around headlights.

FACTS at a glance

Kia Sportage 2.0 CRDI KX4 AWD
Price OTR: £29,505
Engine: 1995cc 4cyl turbodiesel
Max power: 181 bhp @ 4000 rpm
Max torque: 382Nm Nm at 1,400 – 2,500 rpm
Transmission: Six speed automatic
All wheel drive
0-62mph: 9.4 seconds
Top speed: 121mph
Economy/CO2: 39.2mpg 189g/km

REVIEW Kia Sportage 2.0 CRDi KX4 AWD

By Philip Shoulder
@writeonmotoring

The majority of the Sportage range is available in either two or All Wheel Drive form with the exception of this All Wheel Drive only KX-4 range topper.

On the road the Sportage shows itself to be more about delivering comfort and refinement than a sharp dynamic steer.

Not that this is necessarily to its detriment. Kia's SUV actually feeling more attuned to everyday driving.

The ride is soft and pliant with a well-judged compromise between body control and handling response.

Unique to this £29,505 KX-4 is an 181bhp version of Kia's 2.0-litre CRDi turbodiesel engine.

Developing 382Nm (282lb/ft) of torque from 1,800rpm to 2,500rpm the motor always feels strong and responsive and can propel this SUV to 60mph in 9.4 seconds and onto a top speed of 121mph (in automatic guise).

Emissions and economy aren't so great with 189g/km of CO2 and an official combined cycle figure of 38.2mpg. However, manual models do score better on both counts (158g/km of CO2 and 46.3mpg).

Once inside you'll instantly feel at home thanks to large comfy leather seats, a spacious airy cabin and attractive ergonomically sound dashboard.

The large, well positioned touch screen system controls audio and car systems with easy to use satellite navigation.

True some plastics feel a little cheap and switchgear doesn't quite have the polish of German rivals but these are minor niggles all things considered.

It is a shame the front passenger seat doesn't have the height and lumbar adjustment of the driver's chair.

Some may also find the rear vision a bit restricted although this Sportage gets a reversing camera as standard.

Boot space is competitive trouncing both the Nissan Qashqai and Skoda Yeti.

Seats up there's 564 litres on offer. With them down this extends to 1,353 litres.

This Sportage KX-4 comes fully loaded with equipment and builds on the specification of the KX-3 Sat Nav by adding a Parallel Parking Assist System – which is complete with all round parking sensors – a keyless smart entry system and engine stop/start button as well as stainless steel door scuff plates.

• The Kia Sportage 2.0 CRDI KX4 AWD

VERDICT

The Kia Sportage is a fine effort from the Korean firm. It stands out from many class rivals boasting visual presence, good build quality and almost luxury comfort. Only the below average fuel economy counts against it.

Miserable return to top flight for Welsh

By Jack Johnson
jack@tvpnewspapers.co.uk

LONDON Welsh endured a miserable return to the Aviva Premiership last Sunday as they were thumped 52 0 by Exeter Chiefs at the Kassam Stadium.

Exeter ran in seven tries as the Exiles were mercilessly punished time and again.

Thomas Waldrom s two tries gave the visitors a commanding 17 0 cushion at the end of a first half in which Exeter s offloading game and Welsh missed tackles had been a feature.

And any hopes of a Welsh fightback disappeared when David Ewers crossed five minutes in to the second half.

Sam Hill touched down for the bonus point try before Ian Whitten, Jack Arnold and Chrysander Botha all got in on the act.

The defeat turned out to be a sobering re introduction to life in top flight rugby and with Bath on Saturday, the games do not get any easier.

Early signs had been encouraging as Olly Barkley's grubber nearly resulted in a try for Pete Browne.

But the deadlock was broken on 10 minutes when Waldrom crossed and Gareth Steenson added the first of his six conversions.

Welsh enjoyed no shortage of possession and territory, but too often coughed the ball up in promising positions.

Exeter in contrast were clinical and Waldrom forced his way over before Barkley had chances to get Welsh on the scoreboard but his attempts slipped left of the uprights.

To add insult to injury, Henry Slade added a penalty from just inside the Welsh half to see the Chiefs take a commanding 17 0 lead in to the break.

Exeter's fourth try was self inflicted as a wide ball was stripped and Hill raced clear to cross the paint before Whitten bounced off a couple of tackles to go over.

It got worse for the home side as Arnott did excellently to collect Will Chudley's box kick and sprint away for try number six.

And Botha added the seventh when he burst through a gap in the Welsh defence.

Ross bemoans squad's lack of confidence

ASSISTANT coach Gordon Ross said a lack of confidence contributed to London Welsh s opening day 52 0 defeat to Exeter Chiefs.

Exeter scored seven tries as the Exiles were given a reminder of the high standards of Aviva Premiership Rugby.

Welsh had a few chances to get on the scoreboard in the first half as Pete Browne went close before Olly Barkley missed two penalties.

Down 17 0 at half time the Exiles conceded a further 35 points in the second half.

Ross said: "We had opportunities we didn t take in the first half and we weren t clinical.

On a couple of those we got turned over so you are looking at 14 point swings.

But if we had got a few scores in the first half it would have given everyone more confidence and a bit more energy.

Sadly we couldn t do that and I think it knocked our confidence and then we just started chasing things and lost our shape.

Welsh face Bath Rugby this Saturday and Ross is fully aware that it is another tough challenge for the Exiles.

Hopefully we will go down to Bath and create a few more opportunities and this time try and take them " he said.

City bounce back with an emphatic win over Boston

ADI Yussuf and Kynan Isaac both scored twice as Oxford City thumped Boston United 7 2 in the Vanarama Conference North on Tuesday night.

Jarl Rodriguez, Tom Winters and Jose Lapoujade also got in on the act as City put last Saturday's 6 1 drubbing by AFC Fylde well and truly behind them.

City moved up to eighth in the table following Tuesday's impressive win and manager Justin Merrill described the performance as "terrific".

"All that was bad on Saturday was good on Tuesday," said Merrill.

"We just started at such a great tempo and a positive attitude.

"It was a good pitch and good crowd and the players wanted to make amends for Saturday and they certainly did that. It was a terrific performance."

Merrill added: "Everybody was a bit shocked on Saturday and I felt it was out of character and we hadn't shown those boks throughout the other games.

"We got everybody motivated and went out to beat Boston and to stamp our mark on the game and that's exactly what they did."

City welcome 11th placed Gainsborough Trinity to Marsh Lane on Saturday at 3pm.

BARNETT PUTS PEN TO PAPER

By Jack Johnson

OXFORD United have boosted their attacking options with the signing of Tyrone Barnett on a 93 day loan.

The 28 year-old came close to a permanent move to the Kassam Stadium last week, but arrived on loan from Peterborough United yesterday.

Barnett, who moved to Peterborough from Crawley Town for £1.1million in February 2012, will go straight into Michael Appleton's side for Saturday's trip to Exeter City.

Appleton said: "Tyrone is a proven goalscorer at this level.

"He is a strong lad, has pace, is always going to cause defences problems.

"We are delighted that he is here and we are really looking forward to working with him."

Barnett's arrival came just hours after fellow new signing Will Hoskins was ruled out until January with a groin injury.

Meanwhile, Appleton says he does not want to lose his temper with his players again after Oxford United's second half lightning earned a 1-1 draw at Southend United last Saturday.

Danny Hylton's 67th minute penalty cancelled out Jack Payne's opener as United claimed their second point of the season.

And Appleton revealed he lost his temper at half time for the first time this season after a poor first half performance.

"In the first half we showed them too much respect and I suppose the respect we got from them is that they changed their system," he told the club.

"But the way the players came out in the second half and passed the ball and drove forward, there was only going to be one winner."

He continued: "We got the goal back and we went again and it took me to lose my rag for the first time at half time.

"I don't want to do that because I want the players to play with no fear and we certainly saw that in the second half."

United are second from bottom in Sky Bet League Two having taken two points from a possible 18 so far this season.

And Appleton believes United deserve a break" as they go in search of their first league win of the campaign at bottom side Exeter City on Saturday.

"The character the players showed in the second half gives me enough belief going into the rest of the season," said Appleton.

"From a personal point of view and the players point of view I think we deserve a little bit of a break somewhere along the line."

And top scorer Hylton, who has scored six goals so far this season, believes despite the latest injury news, a win is just around the corner for United.

"It is not far away," said the 25 year-old.

"We need to make sure we start games like we did in the second half and I am sure we will start winning games very soon."

United's next home game is on Tuesday when they welcome Accrington to the Kassam.

Hoskins faces injury lay-off

OXFORD United striker Will Hoskins is set to be out for four months with a groin injury.

The 23-year-old (left) tore a tendon in his groin during last Saturday's 1-1 draw at Southend United.

An MRI scan on Tuesday showed an avulsion of his abductor tendon and he is likely to need an operation.

The club say he will be out until January.

Head coach Michael Appleton described the news as a "big blow".

"Will had started to look sharp and was linking things together at the top of the pitch for us," added Appleton.

"He is in good spirits and is very positive about the situation."

Hoskins joined United on a one-year deal after leaving Brighton & Hove Albion in the summer.

The 23 year old had not played since suffering knee ligament damage in February 2013.

Hoskins tweeted on Sunday: "So many things are thrown in my way but I have to bounce back.

"I will not be defeated and will not back down."
